

Psychodynamic Practice 2008 Essay Competition - For Students and for New Writers

Psychodynamic Practice welcomes entries for its annual Essay Competition.

As well as prizes for students who are undertaking, or have recently completed, a psychodynamic/psychoanalytic course, there is a section for new writers who have not previously published in this field. Submitted essays / articles may be on any subject that falls within the scope of the journal, including:

- clinical practice
- the application of psychodynamic ideas to a social or cultural issue, a book, film, painting or play or a significant life experience
- organisational and group processes
- professional and occupational issues

Prizes are:

Student Section

1st prize: £150 worth of books

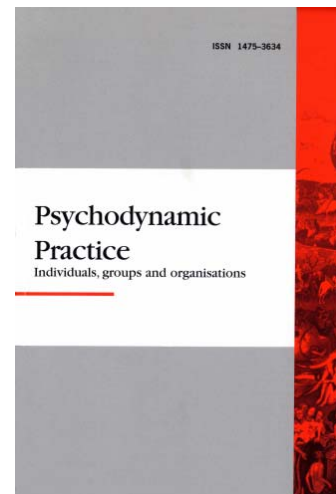

2nd prize: £100 worth of books

New Writers Section

1st prize: £150 worth of books

2nd prize: £100 worth of books

To be chosen from the very large selection published by Routledge: www.routledgejournalhealth.co.uk

Please submit your essay/article, indicating which section of the competition you are entering, together with details of your name, address and place of study/work to: p.terry@bbk.ac.uk or by post to: Paul Terry, Lecturer in Counselling, FCE, Birkbeck College, 26 Russell Square, London WC1B 5DQ.

The closing date is 1st December 2008.

The essay should be between 2,500 and 5,000 words and not published or under consideration for publication elsewhere. The essay awarded first prize will be published in the journal. Other entries may be published subject to recommendations from the editors.

For further information on the aims and scope of the journal please see:

www.psychodynamicpractice.net

The judges reserve the right not to award the prize if the entries are of insufficiently high quality.